

“We are available to meet any-time. You may join us at our house or, if you’d like, we can stop by your place. To schedule, just call any time; nothing is more important than helping you find peace with God.

Training “Curriculum”

Read up on what we believe and what we’ll be talking about. Whether you come to a meeting or not, this free book is a good place to continue your quest for truth:

The Law, Grace & Passion

- Scientific and historical evidence for how we got here: Evolution, extraterrestrial theories; Intelligent design, creation
- A comparison of major religions - why we’re here and where we’re going: Why Christians and secular historians believe the Bible is trustworthy; Explanation of the Bible’s central message
- Is there hope for the mess we’re in? How we’re supposed to live: Racism; Violence; Purpose; Sex and marriage.

Cross Training A neighborhood meet

You’re invited.

No special shoes or athletic gear required.

Our meetings tackle tough topics with a gentle respect for differing viewpoints.

Is what we believe about God and eternity really true? If it were possible to know for sure, would you want to know? Even though this is a tough question, it's one we all need to ask ourselves.

Truth is always reasonable, logical and defensible because the truth always fits the scientific, philosophical and historical evidence around us. Therefore, we should not be afraid to face and discuss any topic, and we do so at our meetings; scrutinizing and discerning alleged divine and natural revelation about topics relating to practical living and eternal matters.

Please come out and discover the evidence for a Creator and why so many people over the centuries believe the Bible is actually a reliable source of information and instruction.

We are inviting people:

- Who are looking for truth and not sure where to find it.
- Who want to be sure if what they call truth can stand examination, in this life - before we all stand in front of God.
- Who believe they have found the truth and want to help others find it also. This includes hearing views other than Christianity; we welcome productive, friendly conversation.
- Who want to find like-minded, near-by neighbors and build friendships.

Cross Train across denominational lines

Stay at your local church. We're not asking you to leave your church and join another, these meetings are neighborhood based: to build friendships between seekers and believers from every Christian denomination and flavor; and also to increase spiritual awareness; to stir and move stagnant Christian love to action.

Each member of the body of Christ has a distinctive gift that helps build up the rest of us; and each flavor of Christianity has strengths and weaknesses. By providing intentional time together through these meetings, we learn from each other's perspectives and gifts- and grow to maturity.

Ultimate "Cross Training"

The cross of Jesus Christ is central in human history and because its message and reality is legitimate, understanding the cross is the key to an abundant life now and in eternity.

Learn and train others to know, understand and strengthen the solid foundations of our shared human condition, purpose and faith.

To followers of Christ: At last, find readily available, effective outlets to share the message of your faith with others!
